Postoffice Should Be Out Of Politics, Says Hoover Report

Washington, Feb. 17 (P)—The Hoover commission said today the post office department should be taken out of politics.

The postmaster general, it said, should not be allowed to head a national political committee, and the postmasters throughout the country should be career men chosen from within the postal service and not subject to confirmation by the Senate.

These were the highlights of a report to Congress by the 12-member commission Congress created last year to report on organization of the executive branch of the government. Former President Herbert Hoover is chairman.

Faults Listed

The report on the post office department was the fourth of more than 15 due to reach Congress by March 13.

These eight things were listed by the commission under the heading of "What is Wrong With the Postoffice?":

a. The administrative structure is obsolete and overcentralized.

b. A maze of outmoded laws, regulations and traditions freezes progress and stifles proper administration.

c. The post office "lacks the freedom and flexibility essential to good business operation."

d. Rates have not kept pace with wages and other costs, and remating machinery is inadequate.

e. The service is used to hide subsidies.

f. Political appointments of first, second and third class postmasters and certain other officials produces inefficiency "and militates against the incentives of promotion."

g. Methods of budgeting, accounting and appropriation are unsuited to a business of the size and character of the post service.

h. Recurring annual operating deficits have been caused by circumstances "mostly beyond the control" of the department "and can be remedied only by strong and courageous action."

Remedies Suggested

The commission offered these remedies to correct the faults it found:

The postmaster general should continue as a cabinet member appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, but should not be an official of a political party. (The present Postmaster General, Jesse M. Donaldson, is a career postal official and is not head of a political party. Some of his predecessors have been chairmen of the Democratic and Republican national committees.)

An experienced executive, preferably chosen from the service, should be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate as director of posts. He would be the operating head of the post office. The postmaster general would determine departmental and public policies.

The postal service should be decentralized into 15 regions under regional directors and district superintendents.

Confirmation of postmasters by the Senate should be abolished, and "the post office should be taken out of politics." An estimated 2,000 postal employees "are in fact politically appointed," and "a deleterious effect has been to create a political barrier to promotion within the service and thus deprive it of a great incentive to good work." The commission suggested that postmasters be selected, as far as possible, from the local community and in consultation with local leaders. They would be subject to merit standards set by the post office and approved by the Civil Service commission.

Forgers Aid In Frameup Of Cardinal

Vienna, Feb. 17 (P)—Two Hungarians who fled their country shortly after the trial of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty assert they helped forge documents reflecting on the Cardinal on orders from the Hungarian police.

They are Laszlo Sulner and his wife, Hanna, now in the custody of American authorities.

When they sought refuge here a week ago they described themselves as official handwriting experts for the Communist-dominated Hungarian government. They described the Cardinal's trial as a farce built on "forged and extorted documents." Both said they are devoted Catholics.

U. S. authorities, studying microfilms the Sulners brought with them on their flight, have as yet made no comment on their story.

The authorities are continuing their investigation. The microfilms, the Sulners said, are of documents used in the trial against the Cardinal.

The Sulners claim some of the letters used in the prosecution of Cardinal Mindszenty were fakes.

They said their study of other letters indicates they were written while the Cardinal was under influence of drugs.

Repeal Of One-Man Grand Jury Sought

Manistique Pastor Leads Attack On Law

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

Lansing, Feb. 17 (P)—A strong segment of the House Judiciary Committee opposed to Michigan's one-man grand jury system today planned to force a measure to repeal the system to the House floor for debate.

Committee Chairman Howard R. Carroll (R-Mt. Clemens) said he would call the committee together today and that he understood the segment would seek immediate action.

"This came on the heels of an all-day hearing on the repeal bill at which a Methodist minister, opposed to the one-man grand jury system, shouted:

"I would give this much power only to God!"

High-priced legal talent had testified that the system was "naked in its tyranny."

Equally eminent legal talent on the other side contended that the system was the state's best weapon for "decent law enforcement."

The Rev. John Safran, Methodist minister in Manistique, asked further hearings on the bill at which he said he would present petitions urging repeal of the system and bring "hundreds of farmers in the state who ask to present the facts."

Patrolman Killed By Detroit Gunman On Westside Street

Detroit, Feb. 17 (P)—A 27-year-old patrolman was shot to death today by a young man whom he had stopped on a west side street for routine questioning. The slayer escaped.

The victim, Officer David Berger, the father of two children, died about four hours after the man fired three shots at him as he stood beside a squad car.

Three men were brought in separately for questioning because they resembled the description of the gunman. He was described as hale, thin-faced and blond.

Bergen joined the force in 1943. He was absent 18 months during which he served overseas with the army.

Kaiser-Frazer Has 3-Week Shutdown

Detroit, Feb. 17 (P)—A shutdown of possibly three weeks at Kaiser-Frazer Corp's Willow Run plant was announced by the management today.

It was attributed to plans for the production of two new utility model cars. Starting at the close of business today it will idle about 7,000 production workers who have been on a four-day a week schedule.

LICENSE RUSH CERTAIN

Lansing, Feb. 17 (P)—With 1,620,000 auto licenses for 1949 still unsold, a tremendous last minute rush for plates is building up before the Feb. 28 deadline, the state department warned today.

Only 630,000 licenses have been issued to date.

Truman Program To Aid Backward Nations Drafted

By MAX HARRELSON

Lake Success, Feb. 17 (P)—The United States will be ready early next week to give the United Nations a broad general picture of President Truman's "bold new program" to aid backward areas.

This was disclosed today by an American delegation spokesman. He said Assistant Secretary of State Willard L. Thorp now is in Washington drafting a speech which will amplify the program for the economic and social council.

Informed quarters said no concrete program has yet taken shape.

But Thorp definitely will give the council a "bold preliminary outline of what Mr. Truman had in mind.

These quarters said Thorp may cover such questions as what the U. N. can do in the field of technical assistance to underdeveloped areas, what individual governments can do and possibly what private industry can do to give financial aid.

It was understood that Thorp would make no commitments as to just how far the United States is prepared to go, either in providing technical assistance or financial backing.

The financing of the program, it was pointed out, must be approved by Congress and for this reason no specific expenditures can be proposed at this time.

Thorp will address the council Monday on the world economic situation and will deliver his speech on the president's program later in the week when the council begins general debate on the questions of economic development and technical assistance to backward areas.

"I would give this much power only to God!"

High-priced legal talent had testified that the system was "naked in its tyranny."

Equally eminent legal talent on the other side contended that the system was the state's best weapon for "decent law enforcement."

POLIO STRIKES POWERS YOUTH

Eighth Case In Powers-Spalding Area

The eighth case of infantile paralysis in the Powers-Spalding area within the past eight months was reported yesterday to the Delta-Menominee district health office in Escanaba. One of the polio patients died early last winter.

Latest victim of polio to be reported from that area is Robert Hoppe, 10, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Hoppe of Powers. The boy is a student at the Powers-Spalding school, and is now receiving treatment at St. Luke's hospital in Marquette.

Two other cases, both in St. Luke's, are Roger Miller, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller of Powers Rd. 1, a student at the Powers-Spalding school; and Richard King, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard King of Nadeau, who attended school at Carney.

Six of the eight polio cases in the Powers-Spalding area were from Menominee county and two were from Dickinson county. Delta county has had two reported cases of infantile paralysis, both in the city of Escanaba.

Dr. William C. Harrison, director of the Delta-Menominee health district, said it is not unusual for polio to occur in the wintertime and that in some instances it becomes epidemic in cold weather. Usually, however, the majority of the cases occur in summertime.

Polio is a virus disease that is difficult to control. Research on a nationwide scale is being conducted through grants from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in an effort to find methods of prevention and cure.

Many persons have had polio but in such a mild form it was never recognized, Dr. Harrison said. There are probably many such cases and this makes control still more difficult. The crippling after-effects occur only in a few of the total number of cases. Sometimes the illness is not recognized as polio until the paralysis is evident.

STEAM PLANT HAS TROUBLES

Plugged Water Line Is Repaired Now

A block in the intake water line at the city steam plant caused temporary loss of steam pressure this morning, resulting in a decided chill in a number of buildings served by city steam but at one o'clock this afternoon repairs had been completed and full service restored.

The boiler was shut down entirely for a couple of hours this morning and pressure in the mains reduced to zero. Partial service was restored when manual water feeding was instituted. Later the automatic system was reinstated at least partially.

The new boiler was put into service only last week and minor adjustments were still being made on the plant when the trouble developed this morning.

The larger of the two old boilers was put out of service last week for a general cleaning and was not available to take up the load when the new boiler went out of order today. The smaller of the two boilers, however, was put into service to provide steam pressure to the city gas plant. It is not large enough to meet the city steam load and plans were being developed to supplement the system with locomotive boilers. This proved to be unnecessary when the repairs were completed to the new boiler.

When the cleaning of the old boilers are completed, a job estimated to require a week or two, the steam plant will have adequate standby equipment to prevent recurrence of the condition that developed this morning, City Manager Aronson said.

Czech Puppets Join Attack On Slavs As Hostile To Russia

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 17 (P)—Czechoslovakia has joined other Cominform nations in attacking Yugoslavia as "hostile to Soviet Russia."

The Czech press said a note outlining the government's views was handed to the Yugoslav government in Belgrade.

Veterans of World War II who went into military service early are reminded by Henry A. Mosher, manager of the U. P. Office of the Veterans Administration here, that their GI term insurance policies are approaching expiration.

Five-year extensions are granted, but they must be applied for, Mosher pointed out. Expiring contracts may be renewed for a new five-year term or converted to a permanent insurance plan, he explained.

Original term insurance taken out while in service before the end of 1945 expires eight years after it was issued. Many veterans took out their insurance early in 1941, and some of these contracts are expiring now.

The Veterans Administration will notify veterans two months before their contracts expire, but it is a good policy for the individual to take care of the matter himself, either by applying for an extension of term insurance or converting to permanent insurance," Mosher said.

"If the veteran does not apply for removal or conversion before the original insurance expires, he will be required to take a physical examination to regain coverage at a later date."

Negotiations Break Off in Philadelphia Transit Line Strike

Philadelphia, Feb. 17 (P)—Negotiations broke down today in Philadelphia's week-old transit strike.

President Michael J. Quill of the CIO Transport Workers Union walked out of a negotiating meeting and declared:

"We intend to continue this strike indefinitely. X X X we believe the Philadelphia Transportation company has been acting in bad faith."

The CIO union men who operate the PTC's 1,500 miles of subway, bus and trolley lines walked out last Friday. The company carries 3,200,000 passengers a day. Negotiators are 14 cents apart on wage demands.

There was a complete halt also in wage talks between the Yellow Cab company and the 3,500 AFL taxi drivers who struck Wednesday.

Easing Up On Rent Controls Indicated

Ceilings To Be Retained; Mass Evictions Banned

Washington, Feb. 17 (P)—Rent controls seemed sure today to be continued, but perhaps in weaker and shorter form than President Truman has requested.

A check of some leading members of the House banking committee, now considering the legislation, indicated this line of thinking:

1. Continuation of rent ceilings for 12 to 14 months. Mr. Truman has requested two years.

2. A ban on mass eviction of tenants. Some landlords have threatened to withdraw their rental property from the market if rent ceilings are extended.

3. Power for the rent administrator to sue for damages where landlords overcharge tenants. But the administration may not get its requested authority to bring criminal action, with fine and imprisonment on conviction, against property owners who violate the rent law.

Tenants now have a right to sue for rent overcharges. But the administration contends that the fear of eviction prevents them from taking their complaints to the courts.

It is now uncertain whether Congress will grant the administration's request for authority (a) to extend the areas covered by rent controls and (b) to restore controls over several classes of rental property previously decontrolled.

Boy Born Without Ears To Get Pair Grown In Stomach

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (P)—Eight-year-old Jimmy Meadors finally is going to have a pair of ears but it'll not be for another two years and after six to eight operations.

The Hartstown, Pa., boy was born without ears. The ones he is going to get will grow in his stomach.

In a series of operations starting today in Children's hospital, Dr. S. M. Dupertuis, plastic surgeon, will remove cartilage from Jimmy's ribs and mold it into the shape of ears. The "ears" then will be placed in the boy's abdominal cavity for a period of time to foster tissue growth.

The next step will be transplanting of the ears to the head where they will function as real "live" ears.

Despite the lack of ear openings, Jimmy can hear normally. Doctors say he has normal auditory canals and ear drums.

COMMISSIONER NAMED

Washington, Feb. 17 (P)—Earl James McGrath of New York was nominated by President Truman today to be U. S. Commissioner of Education. He would succeed John W. Studebaker.

Port Huron (P)—City officials expect Port Huron's city-county building, badly damaged by fire last Saturday, to be back in partial use within three weeks. A temporary roof will be put on, they said.

Hancock Sawmill At Sand River Is Destroyed By Fire

The Hancock Lumber company mill at Sand River on M-28, near Marquette, owned by Charles Hancock and Theodore Richards, of Manistique, was destroyed by fire this morning. Loss is estimated at $20,000 which is not covered by insurance.

The mill, one of two operated by the company, employed 15 men. Fire broke out in the engine room at eight o'clock this morning and spread quickly, consuming the entire mill. The other sawmill operated by the company is located at Manistique.

Pilot Has Battle Over Alaska With Crazy Passenger

Anchorage, Alaska, Feb. 17 (P)—An Alaska flier told yesterday he had beaten a passenger for 15 minutes while his plane dipped and flipped 7,000 feet above Alaska mountains.

Pilot Don Dorothy said he finally knocked out the man, Lorado Bello, 36, a San Francisco Fillipino, with a fire extinguisher.

Bello was taken into custody when the plane landed and removed to Providence hospital for observation.

Dorothy said Bello, the five-plane aircraft's only passenger, struck him without warning on the head. At one time during the struggle Bello got a stranglehold which the pilot finally broke by whipping the plane into a quick roll.

After knocking the passenger out, Dorothy sent word of the struggle ahead to Anchorage and marshal's deputies met the plane at the field.

He said Bello was flying from Seward to Anchorage to meet a plane for Seattle, where he planned to take medical treatment.

Tax Exemption Bill For Veterans Gets Approval of House

Lansing, Feb. 17 (P)—A bill to permit inclusion of all of a veteran's property adjoining his home in the $2,000 homestead tax exemption today had House approval.

The measure survived objections of ways and means committee members who said no one knew what it would cost the state in reimbursements of the exemption to local units.

Rep. Walter G. Herrick (R-Canton City), sponsor of the bill, said officials of the auditor general's office estimated $10,000 to $12,000.

A motion to refer the bill to the ways and means committee for further study failed.

Now before the Senate, the bill would affect veterans with inexpensive homes which do not use up all the exemption.

Slashes In Foreign Aid Funds Opposed

Entire Amount Needed; Senate Leaders Say

Paris, Feb. 17 (P)—Western Europe is expected to set up a "brain trust" today to help it speed economic recovery.

Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian's premier and foreign minister, is slated to head the body. It will include ministers of cabinet rank from Britain, France, Italy, Holland, Sweden, Switzerland and Turkey. The formal name of the group will be the executive council of the Organization for European Economic Recovery (OEEC).

The OEEC represents 19 countries receiving American aid under the Marshall plan. Its job is to see the nations don't just sit back and rake it in; to share such aid fairly among themselves; to cooperate in trade, and reduce the need for American help.

The brain trust will replace a committee of men with lower ranks who were not able to get through quickly to chief officials of their countries for immediate decisions on important matters.

The plans for the new group already have been agreed upon. Only approval from the full OEEC council of 19 ministers now is required.

Following testimony by economic cooperation administrator Paul Hoffman yesterday, chairman Connally (D-Tex.) and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) made it clear they believe the Senate foreign relations committee should authorize the multi-billion dollar aid program as it stands.

Hoffman told the committee that despite some falling commodity prices in the United States there can be no real savings in the program.

He said only $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 could be saved on lower commodity prices—and that would be offset by the lower prices European nations would get for products they sell here. The United States would have to make up the difference.

Hoffman added that ECA had anticipated most of these price drops in figuring its new budget.

Townships and cities in Delta county today are being issued checks for their share of funds received by the state in the public auction last fall of lands that reverted to the state and were sold for non-payment of taxes.

The amounts the several governmental units will receive are as follows:

Townships of Baldwin $553.50; Bark River $62.80; Bay de Noc $362; Cornell $403.61; Ensign $373.43; Escanaba $136.97; Maple Ridge $4,916.15; Masonville $467.44; Wells $59.95.

Cities of Escanaba $1,306.97; and Gladstone $6.50.

Sea Lamprey Threat

THE EXTREME SERIOUSNESS of the sea lamprey threat to commercial fishing in Lake Michigan and perhaps eventually even to sports fishing is evidenced by the survey now in progress by the conservation department in cooperation with the federal government.

Stanley Lieven, fish expert stationed at Escanaba on the sea lamprey study program, has revealed that although the sea lamprey did not invade Lake Michigan waters until 1936, it was threatening to wipe out the lake trout in Lake Michigan. The lamprey also gained a foothold in Lake Superior, where further depredations are anticipated.

Considerable more knowledge of the life cycle and habits of the lamprey must be learned even before an effective campaign for eradication can be developed. The control problem already is so serious that fish experts are pessimistic about the outlook.

In 1947, for instance, 82 per cent of the lake trout caught in Lake Huron were scared by lamprey marks and 65 per cent of the trout caught in Lake Michigan. The sharp decline in trout taken by commercial fishermen in recent years indicates that the lamprey has already killed off a considerable portion of the lake trout.

Although the lamprey preys most heavily on trout because this species lacks the heavy scale protection of other fish, the parasite also attacks whitefish, suckers, wall-eyed pike and even northern pike. If and when the lamprey cleans out the trout population, which is now threatening to do, the vicious parasite will increase its attack on other species.

Use of License Fees Debated

THE PRESENT liquor control act provides that 85 per cent of liquor license fees shall be returned to local units of government and used for the specific purpose of enforcing the liquor laws and the rules and regulations of the liquor control commission.

TEACHERS TO FIGHT 'ISMS'

(Indianapolis News)

No more effective allies than the school-teachers could be enlisted in a united effort to keep alien doctrines from spreading in this country. Veteran and other patriotic organizations which have been spearheading the fight against un-Americanism will welcome the decision of the National Education association to join them.

The association calls on its great army of teacher members "to expose and combat the activities of all groups which have as their objective the undermining of the Constitution of the United States and the civil rights guaranteed therein." This strikes at totalitarian groups which seek to undermine democracy and freedom from two directions—the fascist minded hate organizations as well as the Communists.

The American public can aid the school-teachers to guide the children of the land away from false doctrine by seeing that they are decently paid and by safeguarding at the same time the fundamental concepts of state and local control of public education, along with the freedom of teaching.

READERS' CORNER

It was reported recently in this column that Robert E. Sherwood, in a recent issue of Collier's, credits Winston Churchill with originating the term "iron curtain."

M. G. of Oakland, disagrees. He writes: "You'll find the equivalent of the phrase in the last prayer of the Hoshana-Rabak in any large Hebrew prayer book. It may be translated thus: 'Let it be thy will, O God, that you remove the iron curtain that separates you and us.' Churchill has a wide literary background, and must have read or heard the phrase."

Answer: Perhaps he did. But, according to Sherwood, Churchill was the originator of the "iron curtain" in designating the state of rigid censorship, secrecy, and lack of communications between the Russian zone of influence and western Europe.

The American College Dictionary states: "coined by Winston Churchill in 1946."

M. M. of Pittsburgh, writes: "It has never been determined satisfactorily to me what part of speech 'cannot' is. Verb? Noun?"

AMA Late With Health Program

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—The health plan presented by the American Medical Association is tragically late. It is an eleventh-hour death-bed conversion—and because it is that the sincerity and the intention of the AMA will be questioned.

The plan was made public as the Truman administration is working on a comprehensive national health insurance scheme to recommend to Congress. The health insurance bill will go up to Capitol Hill in the near future with the president's okay.

While they have heard propaganda on both sides, and particularly from the AMA, most Americans know little about health insurance. Whether there is any real sentiment in the country for such a widespread program is doubtful.

But what most Americans do know is this: Medical care is so costly that in any adequate form it is beyond the reach of millions. The very poor in cities where there are free clinics and free hospitals can be cared for without cost. The rich can pay their doctor and hospital bills.

MIDDLE CLASS PINCHED

In between is the broad band of middle-class Americans for whom a long illness may mean ruin. For millions too proud to accept charity medical costs are prohibitively high. These are the Americans who have looked hopefully for some decent and honorable plan that would give them medical care at a price they could pay.

One method is the prepaid, group medical care plan. Families formed in voluntary groups each pay a fixed sum per month to cover doctor and hospital bills.

But the AMA has not encouraged such plans. The public has had the impression that the medical association has set itself against any change. Such a reasonable man as Gov. Earl Warren has been denounced for his proposed California statewide health insurance plan.

In the absence of any concerted movement for a gradual betterment of health standards and a lowering of medical costs on a co-operative or group basis, a federal measure was certain to be put forward. The tragedy is that the AMA might have pioneered in discovering a grass-roots, voluntary, truly American way to meet the problem.

Instead, until the 12-point health plan of this week, the AMA has devoted its resources to attacking federal health insurance as socialism. Agencies such as the National Physicians committee, which was endorsed by the AMA house of delegates at the St. Louis meeting in December, have stooped to dubious and what might even be called un-American propaganda.

MIXUP IN MAILINGS

One example is the letter sent to all Protestant ministers and addressed to "Dear Christian American." Apparently through a blunder it was later sent to Roman Catholic clergy and to Jewish Rabbis and produced a violent reaction. One passage in this extraordinary letter says:

"To the Christian who believes in the sanctity of life, nothing could be more dangerous than the spectacle of politicians arbitrarily juggling the birth rate, through the application of propaganda or compulsion by means of an abuse of political medicine. Once power over all medical services is concentrated in the hands of a few bureaucrats, it would be inevitable that sooner or later—they would misuse it to establish 'quotas' for the baby crop in the same way that the agriculture department theorists set 'quotas' for farm production."

In a special note to members the National Physicians committee said that the mailing of this "Dan Gilbert Washington letter" had come out of "conferences and contacts extending over a period of two years." The doctors were advised to take it up with "your minister and the editor of your local newspaper."

AMA representatives say the association was not consulted at all about this letter. They seem to realize that this kind of propaganda can do far more harm than good.

The AMA is seeking to raise a fund to fight the administration proposal by levying a $25 assessment on each of 140,000 members. There are growing signs of resistance to this assessment. Many doctors are acutely aware of the trouble their patients have in meeting medical costs.

Like the average middle-class American, they would go for a sensible proposal having as its base a voluntary and independent association of doctor and citizen. The Republicans are coming up with their own health and medical plan. They have a magnificent opportunity to show that the choice is not between do-nothingism, clinging to things as they are, and on the other hand, a federal blanket covering all of medicine.

taken the verb "can" and the adverb "not" and merged them into the verb "cannot," which is the negative form of "can," thus: I can (verb) go.

I cannot (verb) go. Most dictionaries do not state which part of speech "cannot" is. But the American College Dictionary plainly classifies "cannot" as a verb; and Funk and Wagnalls New College Standard defines "cannot" as, ". . . the negative of the auxiliary verb 'can'."

THE FLICKERS

Pearl White flashed courageously through "The Million Dollar Mystery," Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle waddled comically across the screen at the old Bijou, and Mack Sennett beauties wore daringly rolled black stockings below the knee-length bloomers as they paraded for the benefit of the movie camera.

Moving pictures had come to stay. The year was 1915. Automobiles had rear seats that swung backward, horns that required a firm hand on the rubber bulb to make them sound, and drivers who went scorching down Ludington at 15 miles an hour. This raised dust unless the sprinkler had recently made its rounds, and caused loafers in front of livery barns to wonder what the world was coming to.

At the Grand the children sat in front rows of seats, necks kinked, eyes devouring the jittery pictures that told a graphic story of elemental emotions. Older folks, accustomed to the dignity of the stage play, professed disappointment and said they couldn't understand what it was all about.

THE ROAD SHOWS—They remembered an earlier day when stock shows played at Peterson's opera house and Escanaba enjoyed some of the finest talent offered by the American stage. The stage was a fascinating thing, peopled by handsome men and beautiful women. And the plays! Tear jokers like "East Lynne" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin," in which the stage ran deep in drama and the audience was encouraged to hiss the villain and applaud the hero.

Later at the early Delft, Escanaba audiences were delighted with such offerings as "Irene," "Sunny" and other musical comedies. Walter Long, who married an Escanaba girl, played there, as did the aging Francis X. Bushman and Miss Mildred Harris, who was the first—or among the first—to wed Charlie Chaplin.

UNCHANGED—There is technical improvement in the making of moving pictures, but the offerings—at least for the young—are little changed from what they were thirty years ago.

The villain continues to be so crooked he is detested by all, the hero so pure and powerful that he has the strength of ten and can kick his weight in wildcats, while the heroine is beautifully stupid or resourceful as the case requires. The hero invariably goes from bad to worse because of the machinations of the villain until right triumphs and crime receives its just deserts. He is rewarded by a soulful look from the heroine and applause from the audience.

THE SERIALS—"With his strong arm about her, she felt no fear, and together on the ropes they swung out above the terrifying chasm while the bloodthirsty howling of the giant dogs set on their trail by their enemy resounded behind them. ways returned to find out how he got out of his latest predicament.

DISAPPOINTMENT — Only once were we disappointed in a movie serial. Through faithful weeks we had followed the adventures of the hero. He had survived fire, flood, famine, stampede, torture at the stake, and the convulsions of a female in a low-necked dress. The last time we saw him he was hanging by his hands over the edge of a cliff, with a grizzly bear chewing on his fingers, while the villain took pot shots at him (the hero) from across the canyon.

Without warning, it seemed, he was crooked he is detested by all, the hero so pure and powerful that he has the strength of ten and can kick his weight in wildcats, while the heroine is beautifully stupid or resourceful as the case requires. The hero invariably goes from bad to worse because of the machinations of the villain until right triumphs and crime receives its just deserts. WORSE THAN DEATH—At an age when children today are on an "allowance" we were busy peddling movie handbills to gain admission to the weekly thrillers.

Eyes of that day considered it an honor and privilege to peddle the bills, because they could use the Saturday nickel wangled from father to buy jaw-breakers. These oversized balls of candy would last for an hour or more if the movie was not too exciting. If it were, you rolled them around too fast in your mouth and they disappeared before the movie ended.

Tragedy of a horrible kind was visited upon one boy in our town. He had been peddling handbills and was caught stuffing bundles of them into a culvert. The theater owner made an example of him and would not let him attend the Saturday matinees. While he didn't die of a broken heart, the boys all felt the punishment was too severe for the crime.

Each week the serial movie ended on a note of hypertension.

As a boy, we never expected the hero to be dashed to death between Saturdays, but we al-

LOONY WORLD, RUARK OPINES

Everybody's Nuts Just Little Bit, He Says

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—Every so often, when the world worries me, I crouch at the knees of Bernard Baruch and ask him how come. When my eyes get glassy, I figure I've learned enough for that year. My eyes are glassy now.

Mr. Baruch is in the latter half of his annual meditative period, which officially opens with the quail season in South Carolina. It ends only when the bobwhites are again protected by law. During that time Mr. B. shuts off his telephone, shoots quail, and thinks. He will not speak for publication, but he will inform. The only difficulty with this is you never know where you start and the old gentleman stops. I imagine visitors to the old delphic oracle had the same trouble.

I am sure that Mr. Bernie believes that one of the things wrong with the world today is total emotional instability—or as I would put it, everybody's nuts, a little bit. The world, or heavy chunks of it, occasionally goes mad and suffers great delusions.

There was the time of the great crusades, when Peter the hermit sold all christendom a religious jag. There was a time when everybody thought everybody else was a witch. The Mississippi bubble, the Florida land boom, the Dutch tulip craze, the panic of 1929, the current infatuation with psychiatry as a cure-all—and all wars—are segments of a global dementia. It is the madness of crowds, as when the Lemmings dash unaccountably off to drown themselves, or a herd of cattle stampedes.

According to Mr. Baruch's measured accents, whole nations are apt to be swept away by delusions of grandeur, guilt or despair. They recover their senses slowly, one by one. They rush from a freezing at the ice of La Sez-Faire to a burning at the fiery extreme of regulating everything.

I would venture that half the world is consumed today by an envy complex, with an insecurity fixation about its lack of American dollars, and a belief that the possession of same will put everything right. Conversely, there is a rampant guilt complex in America, which makes it wear its riches awkwardly, and crave to carry the whole world on its back as self-inflicted penance for its sins.

There is a great delusion about the power of government to do for a man what he cannot do for himself, disregarding the fact that the present greatness of America was built on the restriction of government to mere machinery for the service of the people. As Mr. Eisenhower was saying Saturday, centralization of power into a very few hands merely broadens the margin for error for the few to inflict on the many.

Upper Michigan Forest Covers 800,000 Acres

The Upper Michigan National Forest, embracing about 800,000 acres, is part of one of the best public forest systems in the world. This National Forest consists of two units, the Hiawatha and Marquette, which are located in the eastern half of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Each citizen of the United States is a stockholder in the national forests, according to the current annual report of Lyle F. Watts, chief of the U. S. Forest Service. His report summarizes a half-century's activity in public forestry, and though addressed to the Secretary of Agriculture, it might well serve as a report to 140,000,000 citizen stockholders.

Since it is impossible to put a copy of his detailed statement into the hands of every citizen, the regional office of the Forest Service at Milwaukee has released the following condensed summary of the report.

Purpose of Management

The 152 national forests, located in 36 states, Alaska, and Puerto Rico, contain 180 million acres—or more than an acre apiece for every man, woman and child in the United States. Major resources of these forests are timber, forage, wildlife, recreation and water. The aim of the Forest Service is (1) to get maximum value from all of them through a system of multiple use, and (2) to keep them permanently productive.

National forest timber is sold to private operators and cut by them according to Forest Service recommendations. Timber output has increased rapidly in the past few years. Last year's total cut of over 3 3/4 billion board feet was almost three times the cut ten years ago. The annual cut can be increased still more by building roads to areas now inaccessible.

Some 80 million acres of national forest land—most of it in the west—are suitable for grazing. They are only a small part of the 728 million acres of western range but because they are for the most part located at high elevations, they help carry livestock through the summer months when other suitable range is limited.

Wildlife Resources

More than 2 million head of deer, elk, and other big game animals or about one-third of the nation's total big game population live on the national forests. The forests contain 90,000 miles of unposted streams and 1 1/2 million acres of fish-producing lakes. In 1948 they played host to 43/2 million hunters and fishermen. Recreational facilities on the national forests include 4,500 camping and picnicking areas, 230 winter-sports areas, 400 organization camps for group outings, 77 wilderness and roadless areas, and 50,000 miles of highways and secondary roads. More than 20 million people visit the forests each year and another 50 million motor through them.

Watershed protection—one of the primary reasons for the establishment of the national forests—is tied in to all activities and in critical areas takes precedence over all others. The Forest Service has direct responsibility for watershed management on the 180 million acres of national forest land. In addition, because the nation's water supply is a problem of growing concern, the Forest Service is cooperating with other federal and state agencies in promoting improved conditions on watershed lands in all ownerships.

Costs and Returns

For operation, management and protection of the national forests in 1948 the Forest Service spent approximately $32,000,000. In addition approximately $13,000,000 was spent from appropriations by Congress for roads and trails and for purchase of land. Part of these expenditures can be classed as capital investments. These expenditures are offset in part by national forest receipts, which totaled nearly $25,000,000 in 1948.

Many of the national forests now pay their own way, their cash income exceeding operating costs. On others, especially those containing large areas of cut-over and burned-over land recently acquired, receipts may be expected to increase as new timber growth is built up. Some national forest land, such as areas above timber line and noncommercial forest lands like the chaparral forests of southern California, are largely of nonrevenue-producing character. However, vital watershed and other values make protection a necessity, and the benefits exceed the cost many times.

NEWBERRY TO HOLD CARNIVAL

Trip To Tahquamenon Falls Planned

Newberry, Mich.—Attracted by an unusual winter trip to Tahquamenon Falls, hundreds of Upper Peninsula residents are expected to visit Newberry this week for the annual U. P. Winter Carnival and "Queen of the North" contest.

Sponsored by the Luce County Chamber of Commerce, a two-day program of fun and thrills is in store for visitors who come here for the annual event. Included in winter recreational activities available here are skiing, skating, snowshoeing, hunting, ice fishing and airplane trips aboard pontoon-equipped planes.

Accommodations include hotels, cabins, tourist homes and restaurants.

Nancy Carol Johnson, the 1948 "Queen of the North," will be hostess to community queens from Iron Mountain, Houghton, Marquette, Ishpeming, Escanaba, Negaunee, Newberry, Sault Ste. Marie, Gladstone, Manistique, Republic, Ontonagon and other cities.

Registration of community queens for the 1949 Upper Peninsula contest will be conducted at noon Thursday, with competing candidates scheduled to give an exhibition of their skiing ability following luncheon.

An afternoon luncheon will be served by ladies of the Newberry Golf Club and an evening dinner will be held in the community building, where the queens will be guests of the Business and Professional Women's Club. A skating party will follow, with candidates being judged on their skating ability at that time.

Highlighting the two-day program will be the winter trip to Tahquamenon Falls Friday. The community queens, along with other guests and visitors, will be taken over the new Falls highway to within a mile of the site and from there they will snowshoe to Tahquamenon. Breakfast, to be served by members of the Tahquamenon Sportsmen's Club, will be served enroute at one of the Zagelmeier lumber camps.

For those who have seen it, a gorgeous and awe-inspiring spectacle is in store for persons who visit the Falls in winter. The rocks walls of the deep gorge are sheeted with ice and huge icicles, formed with the spray from the falls and seepage from the banks. Often an ice bridge is formed at the foot of the falls on which the more venturesome may cross.

The carnival program will close Saturday with breakfast for the queens and will be followed by a sight-seeing tour of the area.

Fayette

Car Accident

Fayette, Mich.—As Mr. and Mrs. Louis DeVet, accompanied by their son and the son of Carl Van Remortel, students of the Cooks school, were on their way to attend a ball game at Cooks Friday evening, general swirling snow conditions were responsible for the driver's failure to recognize a snowplow until too close. The car was turned over and badly damaged and all the occupants badly shaken and shocked. Mrs. DeVet received severe lacerations of the face and was taken for treatment to the Shaw hospital in Manistique.

Funeral Attendants
Among those who attended funeral services for the late Leslie DeVet at the St. John church in Garden Friday were Mr. and Mrs. John Herle and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bennett of Escanaba; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Johnson, son Myron, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Farley, Mrs. Frank Gierke and Mrs. Clarence LaMuth of Manistique; Mrs. Clara Potvin and Miss Annie Kelly of Escanaba and Mrs. Margie Schram of Gladstone.

Personals
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schwartz and Claude Baker returned to Green Bay Friday after attending the funeral rites.

BELL COMPANY REVISES RATES

Urban Service Offered In Three Areas

The Michigan Public Service commission has authorized a reduction or elimination of exchange line mileage charges for thousands of telephone users in former rural areas that are now substantial residential developments in more than 100 exchanges of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, including Escanaba.

The commission approved Michigan Bell's program to extend or modify urban-service operating areas in the affected exchanges by authorizing "baserate area" extensions or modifications of "locality area" charges. In effect, the company is authorized to offer better types of service at attractive rates to customers in the newly-developed residential areas.

A phase of the order provides for the ultimate elimination of rural service in the affected areas in favor of urban service now provided within the communities themselves. The company emphasized, however, that such a change must await the availability of facilities, which may take as long as two years at some exchanges. Until that time, rural service will be furnished on a temporary basis.

Company officials said the order will permit more efficient planning in connection with future expansion of facilities.

The order establishes three new locality-rate areas here, according to George A. Marcouiller, manager for the company.

Mileage Charges Dropped

In the areas, exchange-line mileage charges will be eliminated on urban-types of service, resulting in savings in monthly charges, he said.

No change will be made in present rates paid by rural-line users.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

Here is a pleasant way to overcome loose plate dentures. FASTEETH, an improved powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates holds them firmer so that they feel more comfortable. No gummy, messy taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.

in one of the areas, Marcouiller said.

Rural-line service will be discontinued in the other two localities, he said. Instead, customers will be offered urban-type services at an increase of 25 cents a month for residence users and $1.50 a month for business-line users.

There are 139 telephone users in the new locality areas. They total 4,250 square miles, two located north and one south of Escanaba. Included in the business establishments in the north area is the Escanaba Paper company which furnishes employment for a large number of residents in the area. The area to the south includes seasonal and suburban homes located along the shore of Green bay.

The company also will extend the base rate area at Bark River 3/16 square mile to the east and south.

The company will eliminate rural service in the extension when facilities become available. Users will be offered urban-type services. The change will not increase rates for present rural residence users but will involve somewhat higher charges for rural business users. Exchange-line mileage charges will be eliminated on urban-type services.

Dearborn Girl
Is Michigan's
Cherry Princess

Washington, Feb. 17 (P)—Dolores Motter, an 18-year-old blonde with wavy hair, is Michigan's cherry princess.

She will represent the state April 2 and 3 at the Capitol's 1949 Cherry Blossom Festival.

The Dearborn girl, a student at Marquette Junior College in Washington, was chosen from a group of 12 entrants. The contestants were entertained yesterday in the capital.

All the contestants were Michigan girls who live in Washington.

They were guests of honor at a capitol luncheon given by Mrs. Wendell Lund, Detroit, vice chairman of the Michigan State Society, and Mrs. Jean Williamson Duty, of Saginaw, Michigan's princess last year.

The candidates were all "so lovely," Mrs. Duty told a reporter, that the judges made the final selection by "just drawing a name from a hat."

Miss Motter is 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds.

Outstate entrants were Carolyn Giddings and Jo An Wiles, Grand Rapids; Diane Roosevelt, Birmingham; Dorothy Sennett, Royal Oak; Mary Frances Cushing, Lansing, and Denise Engel, daughter of the Congressman, Muskegon.

Radio Script Writer
Addresses Women's Club

The slate of officers submitted by the nominating committee to the Women's Club at the regular meeting held Tuesday, included the following: President, Mrs. C. F. Anderson; vice president, Mrs. Carl Anderson; secretary, Mrs. Norman Martin, corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. E. Moore; treasurer, Mrs. O. Dybevik; and directors, Mrs. A. F. Hall and Mrs. Leon Nicholson.

The musical portion of the program included two sacred selections, "Love Divine All Love Excelling" and "Prayer Perfect", vocal duets presented by Mrs. Wm. L. Norton and Herbert N. Peterson, accompanied by Mrs. A. F. Hall at the piano.

Richard Morenus, speaking informally to the group of especially interested and attentive women, related his experiences in the bush country of Ontario, Canada. "My stomach looked like the measles," Mr. Morenus explained, was the reason for his leaving his work as radio script writer in New York, purchasing a lonely island in the wilds of Canada, and moving there to live for six years. The island had been outfitted for a tourist camp, but it was too far from tourists to prosper, so Mr. Morenus became owner of a very dilapidated camping site.

Moving there required tying a bed spring on a log and towing it by canoe, the only means of reaching the island in the summer. His first experience in dressing warmly in sub-zero weather brought forth the remark "I was walking in a cloud of steam." He learned then that it was not how much one worked, but what one wore that kept person comfortably warm in temperatures of 30 and 40 degrees below zero. Once it reached as low as 67 below zero.

"Indians are very good trappers in the winter and very good visitors in the summer, but they won't work," was the reason why Mr. Morenus had to do all his own work to survive.

Obtaining water from a lake covered with ice 5 and 6 feet thick was a problem to be solved during the first winter. Chopping with an axe was not too successful a method. In succeeding winters it was accomplished by using an ice chisel to keep an open hole in the ice.

A six foot saw was hardly an adequate instrument for cutting ice 8 feet thick in the springtime, but Morenus was cutting it to save for summer use. After chopping and sawing ice all spring, he had put up 18 tons.

Trail dogs—or huskies—Mr. Morenus learned was the way to transport supplies over the 14 miles from town to camp. The three huskies he purchased were named Pal, Sport, and Chum. The command, "Mush", an expression so common, in Jack London stories, was the only command to move that the huskies obeyed; "so we mushed and hoed all day long."

One day the lead dog disappeared so the other two dogs would not "mush", and since Mr. Morenus had to visit town that Manistique Masonic bodies will shortly be established in a home of their own.

Completion of a deal between the Manistique Masonic Building Association and the Costello-Blomrosen Estate was announced Wednesday morning, giving the Masonic organizations the go-ahead signal to perfect the plans they have long had under consideration.

The deal includes the quarters up to or recently held by the Eat Shop, Cliff's Market and a portion of the space used by the D. M. C. store.

The Masons have a lease on

The structure, which was built about fifty years ago, has been given a thorough checkup and has been found to be sound and in good repair. The lodge hall, which has a floor space about equal to that of the present Masonic lodge room, will undergo extensive redecoration and some remodeling, the exact nature of which will be decided upon later.

The fire department was called to the home of Leo Thomas, at 107 North Front street Wednesday noon where damage of a nominal amount was caused by a blow torch.

Water pipes had frozen and Thomas had used a blow torch in thawing them out. The heat of the torch, unbeknown to the user, had caused the lath in the wall to burn. The alarm was turned on as soon as the fire was discovered and the flames put out before they had a chance to spread.

Improved Hawk Sextet Stops Newberry, 5-3

Olympic Titlist Enters Iron Mountain Ski Meet

Iron Mountain, Feb. 17—Petter Hugsted, of Norway, who earned the rank of the world's No. 1 ski-jumper by winning the 1948 Olympics, today became the third European Olympic star to enter the twin jumping classics here Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 26-27, on the world's highest artificial ski slide.

Hugsted, who is making a victorious tour of America, led the Norwegians to their fifth straight Olympic victory last winter at St. Moritz, Switzerland. Matti Pietikainen and Leo Laakso, stars of the Finnish Olympic team, filed entry last week.

The tournaments here will renew a post-Olympic duel between Hugsted and the Finns. Both Pietikainen and Laakso pressed the Norwegians for the world supremacy in the Olympics. Pietikainen finished fourth behind Hugsted and two other Norway men, and Laakso placed sixth.

Experts agree in the opinion that the Pine Mountain entry list is shaping into the greatest collection of jumping stars ever assembled in this country since the 1932 Olympics at Lake Placid. They also agree that the elusive the exclusive first 300-foot ski leap in American history will materialize if the weather is favorable.

This ski-jumping nerve center of the nation is prepared to handle a weekend crowd of 30,000. Saturday's meet will be the John Mitchell Ronning Memorial Tournament in memory of the Duluth rider who was killed on Pine Mountain last year. Saturday's tournament will be the 14th annual Kiwanis Ski Club meet.

Every American star of note is expected to compete against the three European aces in quest of a new North American distance record and the first 300-foot leap in U. S. history.

Olympic Champion

Goalie Rayner Has Lead In Shutouts

(By The Associated Press)

Goalie Chuck Rayner of the New York Rangers appears well on the way to winning the shutout championship of the National League for the second time in three seasons.

Rayner turned in his seventh whitewash job last night as the Rangers surprised first place Detroit, 4-0. It put him two ahead of Harry Lumley of the Red Wings and Turk Broda of Toronto.

Lumley topped the circuit last season with seven and Rayner was the leader the year before with five.

The Ranger goalie saw very little action last year when Sugar Jim Henry did most of the New York net minding. He played 12 games for the Broadway Blues and 15 for their New Haven farm in the American League. Not one was a shutout.

So far Rayner has held opponents to 2-6 goals per game for 45 games. It's his best year in that department since he came to the National League in 1941.

He looked especially good last night. The Red Wings, who had humiliated him with a 8-0 trouncing at Detroit only a week ago, fired 42 shots in his direction and he stopped every one.

The loss didn't hurt the Wings a bit in the standings since second place Boston also lost. The Bruins absorbed a 5-1 beating from the Chicago Black Hawks.

Demaret, Mangrum Favored in Houston

Houston, Tex., Feb. 17 (AP)—Only injured Ben Hogan was missing today as 150 golfers teed off in the first round of the $10,000 Houston Open tournament.

All but a handful this week took their first look at the year-old, 6510-yard layout that has a par 72 and is littered with pine trees, traps and water hazards.

The course record is 69, but Pine Forest isn't old enough to have taken much of a par drubbing.

Houston fans have boosted two native Texans into positions as favorites.

They are the top money winners of the current winter tour—a Jimmie Demaret, the colorful Houstonian who plays out of Ojai, Calif., and Lloyd Mangrum, a native of Dallas but now a Chicago resident.

Steve Van Buren Tops Grid Gainers

Philadelphia, Feb. 17 (AP)—Steve Van Buren is the 1948 ground gaining champion of the National Football League.

League statistics, released today, showed that Van Buren, who lugs the mail for the champion Philadelphia Eagles, won his third ground-gaining title in five years.

Van Buren ground out 915 yards, averaged 4.7 yards in 201 attempts and scored 10 touchdowns.

Charley Trippi of the Chicago Cardinals was second with a total of 690 yards, an average of 5.4 yards.

On the team side, the Cardinals had the best ground gaining mail, carrying for 2,560 yards on 531 attempts for an average of 4.8 per try.

3-Goal Burst In 3rd Period Provides Edge

It turned out to be the Escanaba Hawks who were renovated and rejuvenated last night!

Playing against a vastly-improved Newberry Bunyan sextet before about 400 fans at the indoor rink here last night, the Hawks showed a spark and offensive punch of their own that netted a welcome 5-3 U. P. Hockey league triumph.

PLAY HERE SUNDAY
Escanaba's Hawks will meet the SMAC in a U. P. Hockey league game at the indoor rink here at 8:15 Sunday night.

You were looking at the new Hawks last night—a team that in recent practice sessions has learned to put the emphasis on passing and team play. And it paid off last night.

Kept Goalie Busy

By such tactics, the Hawks were able to work the puck in repeatedly for shots at Goalie John Meyers, who did a yeoman's job in the Newberry cage. Had it not been for his effective work in the nets, the score could easily have been 10-3.

By the same token, Gene Harris turned in his best performance of the year in holding the new Bunyans to three goals and one of those was a fluke from back of the cage that deflected off his pads. Another was made while the Hawks were a man short.

Harris was at his best last night, making fine saves and handling rebounds with a dexterity that kept the Newberry forwards at bay most of the time.

Accurate Passing

Last night's showing on the part of all the Hawks was a vindication of some hapless play in earlier games. The Hawks were looking up and passing that puck instead of making blind thrusts.

Dud Paquette, Escanaba wing, pulled the well known hockey "hat trick" last night, scoring three goals.

With the game off to a rousing start on fast ice, Paquette scored two the first period, one on a neat pass from linemate Bud Hanson, and another unassisted, to give the Hawks a 2-1 lead.

Bill Raffaele counted on an assist from Arvid Hancock for Newberry.

The second period was scoreless but it was not lacking in action and sparkling play. It was only the stellar work of both goalies Meyers and Harris that provided the "goose eggs" in this session.

Ray Campbell, Newberry, drew a five-minute major penalty for drawing blood. His stick struck Paquette's nose in a play for the puck.

Bunyans Take Lead

Tony Garrish, Newberry, plucked two penalties in this middle period, one for holding and another for cross checking. With both Campbell and Garrish in the penalty box, the Hawks had a 5-3 player edge on the ice but they couldn't dent the net behind Goalie Meyers.

Things looked dark momentarily early in the third period when Raffaele tied it up on Dan McGilvray's assist and the Bunyans went into a 3-2 lead on Hancock's fluke shot off Harris' pads.

But the Hawks were out to win last night, and this Bunyan thrust only served to spark them to greater efforts.

Ernie Belanger, the Hawks' Johnny-come-lately, tied it at 3-3 with a back-handed shot while spinning around that went right between the goal tender's legs.

And a short while later, Johnny Cousineau scored a clean beat to put the Hawks back into the lead, 4-3. Cousineau took a pass in front of the Newberry goal from Jim Ward, who had made a dash with the puck from behind the Hawk goal.

Late in the period, Paquette applied the clincher, again on a pass from Hanson.

Kipling Junior Six Beats Escanabans

The Kipling junior hockey team defeated the Escanaba junior at the Gladstone rink last night. The score was 6-1. Jim Dunn scored Escanaba's only goal, unassisted. Kipling scorers were Tom LaLonde, Dick Sidbeck, (Dick Moreau), Dick Sinclair, (Jim LaLonde), Bill Bovin unassisted and Bill Bovin (Sinclair).

MIAMI-NASSAU RACE

Miami, Fla., Feb. 17 (AP)—The 55-foot cutter Blitz was reported well ahead near the finish of the 134 nautical mile Miami-Nassau yacht race early today. The trim racing vessel, owned by Murray Knapp of Detroit, bucked a 22 miles an hour southeast wind to head off all challengers.

SANTA ANITA

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 17 (WT)—The 12th edition of the $100,000 Santa Anita derby Saturday may be the richest in its history. It appears that no less than 12 candidates will answer the call for the mile and one-eighth event, which would mean a purse of $137,800.

DARTBALL DATA

Immanuel Lutheran won two from the Press Editors last night, dropping the first one, 5-4, and then coming back to cop the last two, 6-4, 3-1. At Gladstone, the Press Composers dropped a pair to Gladstone No. 2 by scores of 4-9, 6-4, 9-4. In a makeup match after the league tussle, the Composers won two.

HOW TO SKATE THOUGH LAZY—Russell Thompkins, Mount Pleasant, Mich., is holding what he calls his lazy man's ice skating invention. The device consists of a motor bicycle wheel with a lawn mower handle. It has a double tire, the outer one studded with spikes, the inner one full of air. Thompkins says it will pull an ambitious (or lazy) skater at about 25 miles an hour. (AP Photo)

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Caught on the rebound at the Escanaba-Newberry hockey game last night: Pass the puck, pass the puck—that's the byword in the Escanaba Hawk camp these days... Babs Petaja has been drilling his cohorts on team play of late... No more blind stabs to center ice in clearing the puck from the defensive zone... No more strictly solo stick handling stuff... Get a play started and work the puck in close... That's the strategy that pays off.

Diagonal and lateral passing will work on a small rink... It is more effective on a large standard-sized rink, but it will work to some extent on our small ice surface... So that's what the Hawks intend to do from now on, and they hope to be as effective against the South Marquette Athletic club here Sunday night as they were against the Newberry Bunyans last night.

Have heard several good reports about Tony Flynn's hockey broadcasting... Since we're out on the ice, we haven't heard him yet but everyone we've spoken to about it says he's keeping up with the play fine and providing much interesting data about hockey during the brief lulls... Hockey is the world's fastest game, and as such it's a tough one to cover play-by-play.

Cuff notes: Bob Pofenbauer, Escanaba grid great, received a varsity letter sweater at the annual Marquette university gridiron award dinner... He was the only U. P. man to get a varsity letter, but several peninsula grididers received frosh awards at Marquette U... They are John Backman, Ramsey; Bill Corcoran, Ishpeming; Frank Kopinski, Iron River (all-Michigan high school team of 1947); Joe Masiaghetti, Bessemer; Joe Oreshoski and Bob Weseloski, Menominee; Jerome Saboleski, Ironwood.

The second period was scoreless but it was not lacking in action and sparkling play. It was only the stellar work of both goalies Meyers and Harris that provided the "goose eggs" in this session.

Ray Campbell, Newberry, drew a five-minute major penalty for drawing blood. His stick struck Paquette's nose in a play for the puck.

Bunyans Take Lead

Tony Garrish, Newberry, plucked two penalties in this middle period, one for holding and another for cross checking. With both Campbell and Garrish in the penalty box, the Hawks had a 5-3 player edge on the ice but they couldn't dent the net behind Goalie Meyers.

Brown Bomber Off On Another Tour

Chicago, Feb. 17 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis was off on another exhibition tour today.

The Brown Bomber took off yesterday for Jamaica and other Caribbean points. On the way to the airport, Joe commented on remarks made by his wife Marva, now in Mexico City to get a divorce. She said she'd remarry Joe a second time if he'd be more domestic.

"That's interesting," said Louis. "She must realize, however, that you can't be a fighter and stay home all the time."

Louis said he took his wife to Europe last winter "to make up for lost time" because the fight game kept him away from home so much.

Kentucky Wins 72nd Consecutive at Home

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Yale brightened its chances of playing in the NCAA basketball tournament by beating Dartmouth 71-43 last night.

Holy Cross, a contender the last two years, drubbed Columbia 55-49.

At the same time Kentucky's NCAA champions, rated the nation's No. 1 team, smacked Mississippi 85-32 for its 6th straight Southeastern Conference victory and 72nd straight on the home floor.

Hamline of St. Paul, ninth in the Associated Press poll, was drubbed by the Olympic Champion Phillips Oilers, Independents, 52-38. Notre Dame whipped Marquette 59-42.

Eskies Go To Manistique

Braves Host To Marquette

The Escanaba high school Eskymos will play their next to the last scheduled game of the season tomorrow night when they travel to Manistique to meet the Emeralds.

The finale before the district Class B tournament in Menominee in March will be the clash here next Friday, Feb. 25, against the Kingsford Flivvers, whom the Eskies held to a 33-30 count in Kingsford early in the season.

Gladstone's Braves will be host tomorrow night to Marquette, a strong Class B team that was surprised no end last week when Escanaba St. Joseph's gave them a scare before succumbing, 40-37.

Rapid River, which captured the Central U. P. league lead last week by turning back Bark River-Harris, prepares to bolster its first place hold when it journeys to Treinen Friday.

Ironwood's St. Ambrose, still toppling northern Michigan's Parochial fives, plays host to tiny Mass high school in this week's top non-conference tussle. Mass will be seeking vengeance against the Saints who were the first quintet in three years to soil the little school's record-breaking streak of 59 victories in a row.

Another non-conference classic pits Menominee, the only squad without a defeat in peninsula games, against Marinette, one of two Wisconsin clubs that have marred the Maroons' otherwise perfect record this season.
